When going at a considerable speed on the hand car, Justice Henshaw, who was helping operate the levers, made a misstep, lost his balance and fell from the car. When pleked up, he was found to be badly crippled and unable to proceed to the hunting grounds, He was taken back to Suisun on the car, where a local physician made an examination and found one leg so badly sprained at the knee that the patient will be incapacitated two weeks or more. Other parts of his body are also badly bruised. His injuries are painful and quite serious.

Aside from this accident the Governor's hunting trip was enjoyable. He returned home with a string of twenty-five ducks and reports shooting good on the Suisun marshes, where there is water. Some clubs have found it necessary to install pumping plants to keep their ponds filled.

allege it is not their intention to fight unionism.

The mill owners have formed an association and have employed a non-union firm to do all their hauling. It is impossible for a contractor to buy lumber from a local mill unless the same is delivered by a team belonging to the recognized transfer company. The union carpenters have refused to handle lumber or building material hauled by this company and work on all buildings is at a standstill. The carpenters will carry the fight into the trade council and a sympathetic strike may be declared.

It is stated that every mill within fifty miles has joined the association and that it will be impossible for contractors to bring in any lumber from outside mills.

Gymnasium Stunts and Address by Physician Are Features of the First Night.

A large audience of enthusiastic young men greeted Dr. Andrew S. Lobengier at the opening programme of the physical department last night, the speaker of the evening giving an interesting address on "Errors in Physical Training."

Systematic physical training was strongly urged as a part of the normal life of the man of today, and the speaker asserted the observance of this duty was particularly fruitful to the professional man and college student in its bearing not only on the men participating, but further on the generation to come.

WAGNER'S HOME RUN WINS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—As the result of a double victory over St. Louis here today, Pittsburgh is now in the lead in the National League pennant race by a half point.

The first game was practically a walkover for the Pittsburgh team, which won 7 to 4. Liefield pitched good ball while Beebe was hit freely.

In the second game it looked for a time as though Pittsburgh might lose. St. Louis scored in the third inning, but in the seventh Gibson tied the score with a home run, in the minth inning Wagner also made a home run, thus winning the game for the visitors by the score of 2 to 1.

Camnitz and Rhodes were in good form. Score, first game;

Tenney opened with a pass and scored when Herzog singled and hrown in.

both on a wild pitch, and Griffin came through with a single to left that scored Berry with the tring run.

Extra innings of course were necessary, and the teams struggled on until the fourteenth before the end came. Ellis hit a long fly to the right-field fence that was captured by Curtis in spectacular fashion. Bernard was next, and he banged a double to right field, and would have made a triple of it had he not fallen down between first and s-cond. The best Brashear could do was to fly to left. Howard was a trifle more fortunate, for when he went an easy grounder to Zeider, this bird heaved it low to Williams, and the ball bounced off Nick's shins and rolled to right field, and while it was rolling Bernard scored with the winning run.

The score:

mentioned as a possible president of the proposed society, as he has been unusually active in an endeavor to have the police suppress these nerveracking night noises.

"There is not a night," said Mr. Loomis yesterday, "when there is not some carousal going on about the street corners, and guests of this hotel have complained to me scores of times of their inability to sleep. This should be stopped, and the way to do it is to organize a Society for the Prevention of Unnecessary Noises. I for one would be ready to give it what support I can. "The other morning about 4 o'clock I was awakened by loud taiking on the corner of the street and, looking out of my window, saw a number of night hawks standing on the corner, and using the vilest language possible. Their voices were so loud that they could be heard a half square away. This is but one occurrence, and I think that the other hotel men of the city are afflicted in the same manner. In New York there is a Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noises, and there is no reason why there should not be one in Los Angeles."

JAMES STA SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The alleged recall of the City Attorney has failed to advance beyond the Little Nemo stage; the petitions are not in circulation and probably never will be.

Judge Bordwell yesterday ordered T. H. Harris to pay Mrs. Hattle Harris to pay Mrs. Hattle Harris to see his child every Sunday.

Hanan Shoes For Men

Lately, we have grown very fond of making business comparisons. We find it helps us in holding the reins of our business, to know just how fast our competitors are driving and in what kind of vehicles. But we do not stop there: we also want to know that our salesman gives you better attention and more courteous service, than you can get elsewhere; when a man in our employ falls below this standard, we try to persuade him to see things our way-or we make other arrangements.

We are constantly measuring our shoe values against all comers; it seems more comfortable up, in front, when we know what is behind. When we sell you a pair of shoes at $4—you can rely on it that $4 will not buy a better pair, no matter where you go. No shoe ever wins a place on our shelves until it has passed a rigid examination; it must be at the head of its class or it cannot come in; we play no favorites.

Many men, because of the enormous business we do in shoes at $4 and $5, do not realize how splendidly equipped we are in shoes of the highest grade. When we buy shoes to sell at a medium price—we shop around among the manufacturers and do the best we can; we exact all the quality the price demands-and more if we can get it.

But when we started after the best shoes in the world, without regard to price—the pursuit was simple; no bargaining—no room for any; no comparisons to make—two generations of satisfied wearers had made them for us; no questions of price; "HANAN" has same prices for the big dealer and the small dealer alike—and we knew that argument would not change them.

"HANAN" factory: It is the most exhaustive guarantee of satisfaction ever concentrated into one word. It means everything that any reasonable man can expect from a pair of shoes; in fact, by imposition it is often made to mean more.

'Hanan Shoes', are invariably made of the best quality leathers; second quality materials have no place in the "HANAN" factory; "HANAN" shoemaking has always been a proud example of American expert workmanship—and is today universally accepted as the highest shoe standard.

In "Hanan Shoes", comfort is never sacrificed for fashion. In shoe style there is a constant contest between the elegant and ridiculous; "HANAN" models are never in the freaky-class. Their strongest appeal is to men who demand character in their wearing apparel; men who want the best and are willing to pay for it, but not in loss of dignity or personal comfort.

CORTELYOU'S CLEAN RECORD.

CORTELYOU'S CLEAN RECORD.

The recent attack on George B. Cortelyou by the Los Angeles Herald and other Bryanite newspapers is the most uncalled for, the most irrelevant and impertinent of all the mud-slinging done in the campaign. It is much worse. If the charges were true they would not be an issue. If they were true, the sins of our party would not make the Democratic party a shade less scarlet by comparison. Neither party is angelic in all its membership. Both parties get money from questionable sources, and spend money in questionable ways. As for boodle, we shall have to take lessons from Tammany Hall and many other Democratic organizations before we shall be able to ask for the belt of championship.

But as to Judge Parker or any other person being able to say that he caught George B. Cortelyou with "boodle" in his hands, or going out of his hands, there is only one reply to make—it is false. That is only one letter longer than the "uglier word," which should not be used too freely. There never was a living person who heard Mr. Cortelyou "roar to come through," "roar" in any way, or try to compel people to "come through."

The Herald should do one of two things: prove that Mr. Cortelyou was "caught with the goods on," that is, with political "boodle" in his hands which he knew to be "boodle," that he spent money for corrupt purposes in person or through others under his instructions; or, not having proof to sustain these charges, make retraction and apology.

That the editor of the Herald has heard this, that or the other yarn will not go as proof. The court will not admit hearsay evidence when charges so severe and direct are made. The Herald has for long, long years been grievously addicted to making violent and specific charges on mere popular rumor as a fact. For years it spread before its readers the fable that the coinage act of 1873 provided for the free coinage of silver when Gen. Grant as Predicted tigned it, and that the clause was surreptitiously removed afterward. To this day no one has been tiously removed afterward. To this day no one has been able to trace that lie to its lair.

Whether it is the unsupported statement of Judge Parker, a defeated and disgruntled aspirant for of-

Parker, a defeated and disgruntled appirant for of-fice, which is the Herald's authority now, or some other unsupported statement, that is not sufficient to justify charges of so grave a character against a distinguished citizen. Unless there is definite, positive proof that George B. Cortelyou consciously and purposely took boodle and spent the money in a corrupt manner, for the Herald to make the charge is grossly "Disgusting! Outrageous! Un-Americant!"

charge is grossly "Disgusting! Outrageous! UnAmerican!"
Who is George B. Cortelyou? He first came into close contact with public life as confidential stenographar to President Cleveland. He became President McKinley's private secretary. He organise!
the Bureau of Commerce and Labor, and finally became a Cabinet officer under President Roosevelt.
The trusted, confidential adviser of three Presidents and at the head of the treasury at the present time, his career and his present position entitle him to fair treatment and respectful consideration.

As to the charges of handling boodle in the campaign of 1904, as one of the managers of Mr. Roose-

As to the charges of handling boosle in the campaign of 1904, as one of the managers of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign, the following letter is full of important light. Note the date of its writing, October 26, a week before election day. Upon that day President Roosevelt wrote to Mr. Cortelyou as folpeople have contributed a large sum to our campaign fund. This may be entirely intrue, but if true I must ask you to direct that the money be returned to them forthwith."

true I must ask you to direct that the money be returned to them forthwith."

Mr. Roosevelt's apprehension was based upon misinformation. No contribution of any kind had been made by the corporation named, but voluminous correspondence between the President and Mr. Cortelyou during that campaign abundantly shows that there were the closest relations, perfect understanding at all times, between Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign manager. To charge George B. Cortelyou with boodling in that campaign is to scharge the same upon the President of the United States.

In one of Mr. Cortelyou's letters to the President.

with boodling in that campaign is to charge the same upon the President of the United States. In one of Mr. Cortelyou's letters to the President, he assures Mr. Roosevelt in these positive terms:

"I am conducting this campaign for your relection on as high a plane as you have conducted the affairs of your great office. It is unlikely that one who has been so intimately associated with you, or who has so much at heart your welfare and success, would permit any consideration whatever to weaken the force and effect of the splendig achievements of your administration.

To this the President answered: "As you know, the reason I insisted upon having you as campaign manager was that, to practical efficiency you join the highest type of integrity, so that I knew that, win or lose, there would not be one thing done in the campaign to cause regret afterward."

Of all those who contributed to the campaign fund in 1904, the only one who asked for an office was James Hazen Hyde. When Mr. Cortelyou heard of this request he immediately advised the President that Mr. Hyde had not a single qualification for the place he sought. In regard to applying for office, President Roosevelt made this statument:

for office, President Roosevelt made this statement:
"During the campaign, Secretary Cortelyou assured me that under no circumstances, in connection with contributions received or in any other connection, would there be any committal, direct or indirect, as to anything that I was then or thereafter to do or to leave undone. The events of three and a half years that have elapsed have shown that Mr. Cortelyou spoke the absolute truth."

These quotations will convey to readers of The Times a very clear idea regarding the character of the man upon whom the Los Angeles Herald has so wantonly cast such cruel aspersions. We have had three Presidents, different in character, all of great sublity and of great influence, of different parties, three Presidents, different in character, all of great ability and of great influence, of different parties, too, who have thoroughly trusted and unqualifiedly indorsed George B. Cortelyou. The late Charles Emory Smith said of him in a speech: "The types at the beginning of the twentieth century are An-drew Carnegie, J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas A. Ed-ison, and, better than all, as more typically Amer-ican, George B. Cortelyou, who rose from a stenog-rapher to be a humber of the Cabinet solely on

SEASON FOR DUCKS STILL OPEN.

THE MIRACLE OF THE WATER.

"Within the past few years there has been wrested from a region long regarded as absolutely wrested from a region long regarded as absolutely worthless a crop-producing, home-supporting area of inexhaustible fertility, greater in extent than the cultivated lands of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont; and capable of supporting a larger population. More than $120,000,000 has larger population. More than $120,000,000 has been expended in irrigation work in the West, and 70,000 miles of canals now carry life-giving waters to 10,000,000 acres, which each year produce crops valued at more than $250,000,000."

This statement, overwhelming the imagination in its simple recital of plain fact, was made to the Irrigation Congress at Albuquerque by C. J. Blanchard of the Reclamation Service. Sitting down, as it were, on the bank of his completed ditch, transit in hand, the civil engineer thus recorded the greatest victory ever wrought by man in the annals greatest victory ever wrought by man in the annals of either peace or war in this or any other country. This is the miracle of the water, at the divine touch of which the desert wastes leaped into life—that painted green the dead sands of the ages and made the golden field of grain and the clambering hedges of the rose to gleam and blossom in the desolation of the wilderness.

If the great statesmen who reviled Thomas Jefferson for the Louisiana Purchase could rise from their graves and behold the West of today, what would they say? If from the forgotten places where they sleep the pioneers and the trail-blazers of the "early days" and the Argonauts of '49 could trek overland again, what wonder would leap upon their lips. Where once they camped on the treeless plain, they would now walk knee-deep in the been haunted clover, with forests lifting their green banners on every horizon. The land that they would not have accepted as a gift is now worth a king's ransom.

No war of conquest by sword or flame ever equaled this conquest of the desert plain—a conquest wrought, not through blood, but by water. No curse is upon it of tears of widows or of orphans. Instead of a trail of blood and ruin, life has supplanted death, and instead of the shouts of armies, the song of laughing streams wakes the dead earth to a new birth.

And what her deser all this? Why instant

And what has done all this? Why, just the courage and the genius of the American, his faith in himself and in a government that was not afraid to jump in and back him in his ambitions to the last

TAFT SURE!

Judge Taft has invaded a number of States. He has not invaded "the enemy's country" yet. He has not found it and will not find it. It does not exist. All the country is at heart friendly to Taft. If Florida or Louisiana thought its vote necessary to elect Taft he would get the vote. Missouri may on Bryanite, but if the country should by chance go Bryanite, but if the country should by chance go that unhappy way, Pike county people would exhaust the market for kicking machines, and every man of them would have to eat off of the mantelpiece for four years.

This country is Republican to the core. If we of the rank and file of the party do our duty the Taft majority will outnumber the Roosevelt majority. As we have said several times, there is just one As we have said several times, there is just one chief task before those who manage the campaign. All other efforts are secondary. If we just wait one little month, and on Nevember 3 get the Republican vote to the polls, the majorities will be colossal. Here in California the Taft figures will lead the Bryanite by from 50,000 to 75,000, according to the loyalty of Republicans to the cause.

It has been a strange campaign. It began two years ago in a struggle to pick the two candidates. Mr. Bryan promptly picked himself; and from Maine to California, from the Lakes to the Gulf, Democrats made a wild but fruitless scramble to get out of his reach. It was no use. He was too much for the party, and reluctantly all, from Gov.

Johnson and Marse Henry Watterson to Tony Schwamm, took the bitter pill and set up a shout for the Peerless One, whom they had been exc-

The fight for standard-bearer in the Republican The fight for standard-bearer in the Republican ranks was long and strenuous, and at last Taft secured the coveted prize. Had there been half the hope of success in electing a Democratic candidate, think you the opposition to Mr. Bryan would have been so easily overcome? Not for the world. The nomination went to him by default, because his heart was more set on defeat than the others. He

Since the nominations the country has been in Since the nominations the country has been in a quiet, waiting mood. It is not apathy, not indifference. It is the quiet of well-grounded hope among Republicans, the numbness of certain lefeat among the Democrats. What is there to get excited about? There is not a new issue in the campaign. There is not a subject to discuss which has not been thrashed until there is no more grain to get out of it. The voters understand the issues; their minds a waiting for election day to register the conclusion that the people have reached.

Tariff? That is as much an issue as ever. It is Tariff? That is as much an issue as ever. It is the leading issue. But the people know that subject well. They are ready for the question, and impatient of further debate.

The banking laws? The people know more about currency questions than they knew twelve years ago. They understood it well enough then to defeat Mr. Bryan. They will defeat him worse this time. Free silver is a dead issue, and taxing an monest banker to pay the debts of a thief is no more popular than the other fallacy.

Regulation of corporations? That has been prominently before our minds for years past. Every law passed by Congress for this purpose is one made by Republicans. Every prosecution under these laws was instituted and carried through by Republicans.

Republicans.

The courts? The attack of Mr. Bryan on the judiciary in 1896 did much to defeat him. The people understand this, and have not changed their minds. They will vote down the man who attacks the courts this time, as before.

Labor? Who is the enemy of labor, who its friend, the Democratic or the Republican party? In which party were those who made merchandise of human flesh, and treated the laboring man as a chattei? In which party are those who now practice peonage when they can? Which party passed the employers' liability act, acts against child labor? Which party took up the matter of strikes and settled them to the satisfaction of the employer and of the employé?

them to the satisfaction of the employer and of the employe?

The issues are all old. The principles have all been discussed over and over again. The history of both parties is an open book. Its pages are thumb-worn, their contents known by heart. The candidates are as well known as is jurty history. Their characters have been carefully weighed by the people and they have made their choice. All are just waiting until the day comes and we are allowed. just waiting until the day comes and we are allowed to give in our verdict. That is what you gather on the street, everywhere men assemble, from all you hear talk. Few are met who do not know now how they will vote.

There is only one chance of defeat for the Republican candidate. Confidence of success is a publican candidate. Confidence of success is a danger. The greater the feeling of security, the greater the danger of miscarriage. It is of the utmost importance to the country that Mr. Bryan be definitely eliminated from American politics. He is an unsafe leader, never more dangerous than now. He is insincere as well as misguided. None desire his annihilation more than a great number of his fown party. He and his vagaries should be given a final quietus this time. nal quietus this time. To make certain the election of Mr. Taft we

To make certain the election of Mr. Taft we should all vote. To drive W. J. Bryan and his fads from the stage we should all vote. If we all vote, these things will be done, and well done. Wherever a body of business men meet, Mr. Bryan is condemned. All the business interests of the country fear him. Labor has more at stake in business than business men themselves. The wage-carners have never taken any stock in Mr. 3ryan. His only real supporters are the political backs of carners have never taken any stock in Mr. 3ryan. His only real supporters are the political hacks of his party, the "knocked out" in the battle of life and the enemies of society who wish to see a revolution in our social and economical systems.

Let all who believe in Republican principles, all who stand for the government as it was organized by Washington and Jefferson, all who have everything to gain by the stability of the government and of society, be sure to vote—and Mr. Taft's prophecy of success will be fulfilled.

body might have remained undisturbed for months. The grove, which is fanced with barbed wire, is very dense and only in two or three place explorable without difficulty. George Crews, a German teamster, living north of Long Beach, started to the beach for a load of sand, and desiring to make a quick trip, took a short cut through the grove, and caught a glimpse of what looked like a body. Me stopped his team, forced his way through the underbrush and found the corpse. Without investigating, he hurried to Long Beach and notified the police.

He graduated from the High School in Allence, O, at the age of 16 years, and 'after year out of school, entered Pasadena High School for a post-graduate course, after the family came here year ago last Christmas. He was constantly studying, and in his clothes were found papers bearing on a course of study in algebra and trigonometry.

The parents were prostrated with trief when they heard the news of their son's death, and it is feared that Mr. Miller, who is in poor health, may suffer ill effects from the shock.

SECRET MEETING. tel Green last night, eighty-seven leading business men discussed the water problem until a late hour. They appointed committees and drew up resolutions, that were not made public last night. It is understood the committees will study conditions and determine whether or not it is best to pass a petition among the taxpayers asking for another bond election for the purchase of the water properties. Mayor Earley was not present and it is understood the administration at the City Hall is not directly interested in the movement. Officers of the Board of Trade last night denied any connection with it, as representatives of the loading business men.

W. W. Ogier acted as chairman of the meeting and Dean Chamberlain of Throop Institute as secretary. Men who based the purchase of the water properties by the city at the recent bond election were among those present, although the leaders in the movement were absent.

The Oak Villa Hotel at Lamanda Park and a nearby cottage were com-pletely wiped out by fire tonight. Other buildings were saved only by Park and a nearby cottage were completely wiped out by fire tonight. Other buildings were saved only by a fortunate shift of the wind. Sparks alighting on the Santa Fé depot, 150 feat away, threatened that structure, but it was saved by the chemical from the Mentor-avenue station in Pasadena. The hotel was owned by Mrs. Mary Wardell, and conducted by Miss Cora Dix. Mrs. Wardell spent a large amount of money in improving the house during the last three years, and the loss will fall heavily upon her, although the building was insured for part of its value. The hotel is valued at about $6000, and the cottage, which was owned and occupied by Joseph Schwiekert, a butcher, at $1000. The contents of both buildings were saved. Efforts to fight the fire proved abortive on account of the almost total lack of water. The chemical company did good work until the contents of the three tanks were exhausted, but not enough water could be found to refill them. The fire was caused by crossed electric wires. The chemical made a fine run to the fire, doing the three miles in less than eight minutes.

The hotel had twenty-two rooms and was built in the boom of 1835.

SHALL HERMOSA AND REDONDO BE CONSOLIDATED?

of Former Place Leads to New Sug-gestion—Annexation of Additional Water Is Also Agitated to Protect the proposition to cripple the neighbor-ing municipality of Hermosa Beach by the exclusion of hair of its territory, practically failed. The initial petition with the requisite number of signa-tures was duly filed several weeks nored it, declining to take the steps required by law and awaiting legal action to compel them to do so. The board, it is said, looks upon the petition as faulty, having been advised to that effect by City Attorney Loucks. Nothing further will be done until an order of court is secured for force action upon the petition.

The city itself is about equally divided upon the question of excluding what is known as the valley section, being all of that portion east of the Los Angeles-Pacific right of way, or approximately so. The residents along

Los Angeles-Pacific right of way, or approximately so. The residents along the beach are bitterly opposed to the exclusion on the ground that it would be unfair to property owners in their vicinity, whose money and initiative would be expended in municipal development, which would be of equal or even greater benefit to the valley section, whose people would be exempt from the like burdens, if exclusion should carry.

On the question of disincorporation there is not the same unanimity among the residents of the beach district, and it is said that it would not be particularly difficult to secure a majority vote in its favor within the city limits. The law requires a two-thirds vote, however, and it is not believed possible to secure this. Disincorporation is, therefore, looked upon as out of the question.

FAVOR CONSOLIDATION.

This condition of affairs in Hermosa Beach, which adjoins this city on the north, has aroused a strong sentiment here in favor of consolidation, and a number of leading citizens are agitating the desirability of uniting the two small cities, and thereby forming one fairly respectable municipality. The population of the larger city so formed would be between 4500 and 5600, and the conditions would be favorable for changing to either a freeholder or a fifth-class charter, either of which would offer broader and more favorable opportunities for municipal advancement. A number of leading citizens of Hermosa have been sounded, and all but one of those approached signified their willingness to unite in bringing about consolidation. The single exception was a gentleman who merely opposed consolidation at this time. He believed that it was a measure that the future would render necessary, but at this time he said that he would oppose it.

Another scheme for municipal expansion now being discussed here is the annexation of the waters of the harbor adjucent to the city on the west. The western boundary of the harbor adjucent to the city on the waters of the ocean along the beach, so as to protect the local fishing for the benefit of the rod and reel people. Thousands of tons of small fish are taken annually within a few hundred feet of the shore along the front by the fish camery boats, and the city government is poweriess to prevent it without first obtaining jurisdiction over that portion of the waters of the harbor along the beach, so as to protect the local fishing for the benefit of the rod and reel people. One hundred acres of the tract is now cleared and forty additional acres are to be put in shape and the 140 acres set to orange and lemon trees. Water is to be developed and a cottage erected for the ranchman. Mr. Hunt plans to build a fine country home for himself later on. The property adjoins the well-known Bixby ranch.

for the estate. Old man Lacke lived with his only son on a ranch north of town. Three years ago, his son disappeared. Licke fell ill, and was cared for by a man named Stoddard.

Morris drew up a will for Licke, under the terms of which, unless the missing son returned within two years, the estate was to go to Stoddard. The funds, $2500, of the estate passed into Morris's hands, and, like all other moneys he has handled, disappeared.

Mrs. Sarah Marshall of San Francisco and C. A. Adams have both sworn to complaints charging Morris with embessiement. These make three complaints lodged against him. His estate does not even pay the two mortgages against it, therefore all his clients he has victimized will lose every cent of the money entrusted to him.

tant Changes in the State Juvenile Laws.

"Important changes in the State laws governing juvenile offenders were indersed by the conference of Charlites and Corrections at Oakland, this week," said Judge Wilbur after his return yesterday from the North.

"The conference recommended that a State reformatory be established for persons convicted of their first offense and that the intermediate sentence be put in effect as soon as such a reformatory is erected.

"Perhaps the most important recommended to give the courts the power of receiving the applications of parents who are unable to control their minor children, so that the children may be cited and examined. Then, if the switched and examined. Then, if the swishes of the parents are seasonable and proper, they may be put under the order of the court to obey their parents' orders. Under existing laws, the only method parents have of dealing with disobedient minor children is to apply to the court on a charge that their offspring are incorrigible, or to use brute force. A boy over 18 years of age cannot be proceeded against as incorrigible.

C. E. Johnson, engineer in charge, and C. H. Page, constructing superintendent, hold forth. Here they plan the work day by day, and here at night they discuss the progress and speculate on how much can be done on the morrow. Others may draw plans and write figures, but to these men the only thing that counts is how much they can add to eleven parallel black lines drawn on a peculiar-looking chart at the end of each day.

The official name of this chart is the "progressive profile." and in plain English this means, "how much has been done and how much more there is to do." The top like is twice as broad as any of the others. It stands for the two little heading tunnels at the base of the bore, and last night it had been blackened to the 670-foot mark. The next two lines stand for ten two little heading tunnels at the base of the bore, and these were marked to indicate that they were 650 feet in.

Below this was the mark for tunnel No. 5, at the head of the arch. This is the delicate part of the work, for it is the hole nearest the surface, and part of the time the men in this drift have been within six feet of the surface but they have never jarred so much as a pebble on top. This mark indicated that the gang were in 610 feet.

The next two lines represent the wings and they show that the dirt between the $40 little tunnels has been removed 566 feet from the entrance. That 556 feet of concrete side walls. Bull" Reid, Famous Harvard Coach, Is Hero of Occasion.

Belmont, Notable Educational Institution, Suffers Damage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Beiment School, one of the most notable academic institutions of the West, was well night annihilated by fire yesterday afternoon. Two of its main buildings, the head master's house and junior hall, were utterly destroyed. The loss was semewhere in the neighborhoof of 30,000.

"Bull" Raid, the famous Harvard football player and coach, assistant head master at Belmont, was a demon in the face of danger. He fought flames when partly protected by a blanket upon which others played a feeble stream from a garden hose.

A visiting football team from San Francisco, youths from the Yosemite Athletic Club, arrived in conveyances just as the first threatening plumes of smoks began issuing from the shingles of the head master's house, probably caused by a defective chimney leading up from the kitcher at the rear where meals were prepared for the teaching force. BUILDING DOOMED.

The main building was doomed. At the rear stood a shed in an open clearing. "Buil" Reid himself led the attack to demolish it before the fire could sweep down and eat that on its way to the junior hall still further in the rear. This was destroyed, but the fire came on just the same, picked it up and ate it clean and then jumped to devour Junior Hall. Upstairs were the dormitories for the smaller boys of the school, some thirty-five of them out of a total of about one hundred and twenty students at the academy. Downstairs were classrooms with their individual desks and a room centaining the armament of the military school. Into this building the football players, led always by the intrepid "Buil" Reid, went with renewed vigor and fought hard, if not to save the aiready doomed building, to carry out all that was portable and get it safely away from the new bonfire.

Belmont is twenty-six miles down the peninsula from San Francisco, the school is back in the hills a mile or more from the station and the station itself has no fire apparatus. The nearest portable fire-extinguisher was at the town of San Mateo, five miles
